Description:

The Keychron XXL Desk Mat in Grey provides a spacious 90 x 40 cm working area designed to bring your keyboard, mouse and other desktop accessories together on one comfortable surface. Its cloth control surface offers consistent resistance for controlled and accurate mouse movement, making it suitable for office work, gaming, study and general desktop use.

The 0.3 cm thickness gives the mat a comfortable feel while helping create a stable surface for everyday use. Stitched edges add durability by helping resist fraying, allowing the desk mat to maintain its neat appearance over time. The clean grey finish also works well with a wide range of modern desk setups.

There is no RGB lighting or unnecessary visual distraction, making this a practical choice for users who prefer a simple and uncluttered workspace.

With its 90 x 40 cm dimensions, the Keychron desk mat provides plenty of room for a full-size keyboard, mouse and additional peripherals. It can help protect the desk surface from everyday marks while creating a more consistent area for desktop accessories.

The cloth control surface is designed to provide measured resistance, giving users predictable mouse movement when working, browsing or gaming. This makes the mat particularly useful for longer periods at the computer where consistent tracking and comfortable positioning matter.

Durable Stitched Edge Design

The edges are neatly stitched to help reduce fraying and improve long-term durability. This construction also helps the desk mat retain its shape and clean appearance during regular daily use.
