Aver DVC130 All in One Conferencing Solution

Specifications

Overview:

This all-in-one desktop-style video conferencing system is friendly and easy to use. It includes everything you need to hold video conferences with vivid high quality picture plus clear sound. Built-in camera, microphone, and speakers are all integrated into a 23 inch display along with multi-touch screen. Perfectly suits for executive office and easily turns your workplace into a great meeting environment. Conference participants can enjoy clear video and audio together with presentations from your PC.

Features:

Triple Stream Integrated Applications
The DVC130 can receive and share content as well as live video. Its powerful built-in conferencing software includes EZMeetup and Skype for Business, providing unlimited collaborative communication possibilities.

Auto Answer Call
Pick up incoming calls immediately with auto-answer, ensuring no call will be missed even if you can't answer manually.

Effective One-Touch Content Sharing
The AVer DVC130 can receive and share any files, pictures, videos from Google drive, OneDrive, or Dropbox, offering a highly collaborative and practical communication solution right on your desk.

One-Touch Live Recording
The AVer DVC130 can record live video conferences directly into its built-in hard drive, making it extraordinarily simple to keep records of conferences. Recorded conferences can be played back easily on the DVC130.

All-in-One Design
The DVC130's all-in-one desktop video conferencing design is ideal for any executive office. With all the hardware needed for video collaboration bundled into a single device it's easier than ever before to turn your workplace into a convenient meeting environment.

Multi-Touch Screen

Enjoy simple operation with the DVC130's touch screen. All it takes to start a video meeting is a single tap. What's more, the DVC130's multi-touch screen can respond to up to 10 points of contact, making a plethora of functions easily accessible.
