Description

The Aavara AI742 Free Style LCD Stand is engineered to provide a flexible and ergonomic mounting solution for dual monitor workstations. Designed with two fully independent swing arms, users can position each monitor separately to achieve an optimal viewing angle and comfortable working posture.

The stand uses a secure grommet mounting system that keeps the desktop clear while providing exceptional stability. ExperTorque technology allows smooth monitor positioning with minimal effort, making it easy to adjust displays throughout the day.

Each monitor can be independently adjusted for height, swivel, tilt, and rotation, allowing both landscape and portrait orientation. Integrated cable routing helps keep monitor cables organized for a cleaner and more professional workspace.

The AI742 is well suited to offices, financial trading desks, programming environments, engineering workstations, surveillance applications, reception areas, and home office users who require reliable dual monitor positioning.
