Description

The Patriot Rage R550 32 GB swing USB flash drive is designed to simplify file mobility across various devices. With its dual interface, you can plug it directly into modern USB-C ports or legacy USB-A ports - perfect for laptops, desktops, tablets, and many smartphones. The swing / swivel housing safeguards the idle connector and eliminates separate caps that can be lost.

In everyday use, you might store projects, presentations, images, or large document sets and carry them between office, school, or home. The rated read speed of up to 100 MB/s ensures swift access to files, while write speeds (subject to system limitations) remain solid for typical data transfers.

Because it supports plug-and-play across major operating systems, you won't need to install extra drivers. The built-in key ring hole helps ensure it stays with your keys or lanyard. The compact yet robust metallic body resists wear from everyday handling.
