Performance tier: Everyday portable storage

Uses: File storage, document transfer, photo storage, video storage, music storage, work files, school projects, personal backups

Description

The SanDisk Ultra Curve Black 256GB USB 3.2 Flash Drive is designed to make everyday digital storage simple and portable. With 256GB of capacity, it provides space for a broad range of personal and professional files, including documents, spreadsheets, presentations, photographs, videos and music.

Its compact design makes it convenient to carry in a laptop bag, backpack or desk organiser, giving you access to stored files when you need them. Use the drive to move documents between compatible computers, keep project files together or maintain a separate copy of important digital content.

The USB interface supports convenient connection to compatible devices with the appropriate USB port. Actual transfer performance depends on the host device, USB connection and the files being transferred. For important data, maintain an additional backup rather than relying on a single storage device.

Whether you need extra space for work documents, school assignments or personal media, the SanDisk Ultra Curve 256GB offers a straightforward portable storage solution for everyday use.
