Specifications

Overview:

Windows 7 home basic is a windows 7 edition that is not available worldwide. It has been specifically created by microsoft to be sold in emerging markets. Its feature set is superior to the windows 7 starter edition. The features that it comes with are the following:

- Concurrent applications unlimited
- 32-bit and 64-bit mode support
- Home group join only
- Windows internet explorer 8
- Windows media player 12
- Desktop window manager
- Windows mobility center
- Windows aero partial

The most apparent differences are that it does not come with the concurrent application limit. Other advantages are 64-bit support and the inclusion of the desktop window manager, windows mobility center and partial support for windows aero.

Note: this dsp version includes a license and the dvd (no packaging or manuals) and should be purchased with new hardware (new pc, server, or authorised components). The primary license is only valid for the purchased hardware and cannot be transferred to a new system - it lives and dies with the purchased hardware. The image is for illustration purposes only.
